

Send us your open application

At INSIFR, we're not just a bank, we're starting a movement. One that empowers Muslims to manage their finances without compromising their beliefs. If you believe that financial services should align with people's values - not work against them - you might be exactly who we're looking for.

Why join INSIFR?

Conventional banks have long ignored the needs of Muslims. From Riba based products to investments in harmful industries, the financial system often forces compromise. INSIFR was created to change that.

We're pioneering Islamic banking in the Netherlands, building financial solutions that are:

- Riba free
- Ethically responsible
- Grounded in community

And we're doing it with a passionate, purpose driven team.

Who we're looking for

We're always on the lookout for talent who shares our mission. Whether you're a developer, product designer, compliance expert, marketer, or community builder - if you believe in values-first banking, we want to hear your story.

You might be a fit if:

- You care deeply about financial inclusion and social impact
- You want to build tech and services that matter
- You believe Muslims deserve access to modern, ethical banking
- You thrive in fast-paced, mission-driven environments

Didn't see your role listed?

That's okay. Some of the best people don't fit into boxes. Send your open application to hr@insifr.com and tell us how you can help shape the future of Islamic banking.

Join INSIFR today and help us build a future where no one has to compromise their values to access fair, modern financial services.